

A detailed botanical illustration serves as the background for the book cover. It features a variety of plants against a teal background. In the upper left, there are small clusters of light pink cherry blossoms. To the right, a branch with green leaves and several light pink, five-petaled flowers is visible. The center-left features three larger, light pink flowers with prominent red veins radiating from the center. Below these, a large, vibrant red flower with many petals is shown. At the bottom center, a large, pale yellow flower with a ruffled, peony-like appearance is prominent. Various green leaves of different shapes and sizes are scattered throughout the composition. The text is overlaid on this illustration.
